

Naturas Green café

Insolits Performin Arts

Synopsis

These curious plants called Naturas have merged into our society by adopting a human appearance. They are not-rooted plants who can get close to you, walk around you and go unnoticed in a garden.

They have prepared a very special coffee for their guests: All those who wish to sit and try a Natura experience.

Description

Interactive and surrounding living installation show with sound, music and even natural scents which transform any space. This show can be performed outdoors and also indoors. The staging will turn any architectural space, no matter how cold, into a place where nature has more presence.

The actors and actresses create a natural atmosphere with their period and nature costumes. The public will have the chance to immerse themselves and have a very special cup of coffee in this living garden.
